

About Me

Welcome, one and all.

About the site.

My name is Christopher Spivey. I am a registered Tattoo Artist & Body Piercer. I was also a Features Writer for the Sovereign Independent Newspaper (The biggest independent publication in Southern Ireland). I say 'was' a features writer because I now write exclusively for this site.

Without a doubt, what I do say Isn't liked by the Security Services(SS). There is no question what-so-ever, that the SS are monitoring me. Certainly, they will have been from my time with the Sovereign Independent Newspaper. How do I know? Well the Sov Ind was at one point, the focus of the American SS. Since I was writing for the newspaper at the time and under my own name to boot, it is only logical that the American SS would share this info with their UK counterparts.

So if the 'powers that be' hate what I have to say so much, then you can only conclude that the contents are accurate.

I can promise you that a great deal of research goes into the writing of my articles to ensure that they are factually correct. Because of that fact, along with me trying to earn a living, I am not able to write an article a week like some websites churn out. Then again, some of these website do more harm than good to the 'cause' by publishing articles which are founded purely on rumour. Therefore, in order to keep the site interesting, I publish on a daily basis, news stories and articles written by others. However, I personally check that all the material published on this site is authentic. Put another way; if it's on here, it's true.

As for the articles that I have written, some have been picked up and translated into Spanish. Others have been picked up and published by the American alternative media and I have also been republished by the very well respected website 'Before its news'.

I am happy to say that in the 8months that the site has been up and running the viewing figures continue to rise.

So, who am I? The easy answer to that is no one special. I'm your average Joe, who works hard to 'get by'. And that's where my problem lies because like millions more on this planet, I shouldn't have to work my ass off just to 'get by'. Indeed, it doesn't have to be this way. Every single one of us could have a better life, if we but knew it.

The reason we don't is because we live in a world that is an illusion... An act. The orchestrator's of this illusion are the so called 'One Percenters'. That is to say, the 1% of the worlds population who control the other 99% of us by Stealth, Fear, Corruption, Bribery & Blackmail. Get rid of this 1% and we can all enjoy life as it should be. Without these evil parasites, living off our misery there would be no wars, no starving and no homelessness.

And this is where I differ from many of you. I am not prepared to sit back and just exist, when I know that it does not have to be like that. We are all one, regardless of the colour of our skin, our beliefs and our sexual orientation. Together, we have more power than you would ever believe possible. The One Percenters are well aware of this fact. To combat the threat that we are as a whole, they keep us divided via religion, skin colour, mistrust and sexual orientation.

Wars are purposely started to further the agenda. We are led to believe that fighting for your country is an honour... "You will be a Hero, my son". There is no honour in killing. A real hero is someone who refuses to kill someone else just because they were ordered too. We here in the UK and The USA are not at war with Afghanistan or Iraq. We are invaders, Uninvited and Unwanted. They were absolutely no threat to our countries what so ever.

It is easy to prevent war, there are three ways. The 1st is through communication. The 2nd is by all armed personnel refusing to kill anyone and the 3rd which is my Personal favourite; All those who take a country to war should be made to fight on the front line. The latter is a sure fire way to peace.

Under the rule of the 1% we are slaves. Love, Harmony, Understanding and Mutual Respect are the keys to free us from these chains. Apathy will lead to our demise. There are many, many dark clouds on the horizon, all of them purposely designed to reduce our numbers. The question is: Are you going to sit by and allow your downfall, or are you going to stand up and be counted? Personally, I will be no one's slave.

Chris Spivey (Bio)

Picture: Chris & his daughter Stacey

I live and work in Rochford, Essex, an historical little town in the South East UK. I have an IQ of 127 and have a passion for writing. I have in fact nearly finished writing a book which is a spoof based on the rise to fame of the Sex Pistols entitled 'Never mind the Sex Pistols, heres the bollocks'. You can read this book exclusively on this website

I firmly believe that everyone is equal and as such I treat everyone with respect. However respect is a two way street so I expect to be treated with respect in return.

I dont drink, which I suppose makes me boring to some peoples way of thinking. To that, I say I am confident and brave enough not to need to hide behind alcohol... believe me 'drunk' isnt a good look by anyones standards.

On the other hand I do smoke quite a lot, but hey we all have our vices. Im very easy to talk to but if you ask for my opinion im going to tell you the truth regardless of whether its what you want to hear or not.

If i could have one wish it would be that i could stay forever young...

My home town of Rochford is very near to Southend on Sea. Southend is a typical English 'kiss me quick' seaside town. I share my home with my 16yr old daughter, Stacey who I have brought up alone since she was 6 months old. She is a good kid whos life hasn't been easy what with the lack of a Mother and me working funny hours. To say I am proud of her is an understatement and I truly believe that she has a bright future as she is a very talented dancer.

I also have two Rottweillers, Jasper who is 10 years old & Jessica who is 4. I love my Dogs to bits. They are litterally my best friends. I cannot understand people who Don't like dogs and in my experience those who don't are the kind of people that I have least in common with.

I worry constantly about Jasper now that he's getting old. I have had him since he was 6wks old & he's been with me through some tough times. I couldn't have asked for a better dog and I will be absolutely devastated when his time is up.

Jessica, on the other hand was like myself, born naughty. That said, you should never make the mistake of associating 'Naughty' with 'Bad'. They are two totally separate things with very different meanings. She is a very loving Dog and is begining to calm down, but boy did she try my patience when she was a pup. That said, I wouldn't get rid of her for all the tea in China.

I have always been suspicious of those people 'acting in my best interests'. Nine out of Ten times, they most certainly are not. However, up until September 11th 2001 I was content to go along with the status quo. Following the attacks of 9/11, I was forced to question everything that I had learned up until that point. The more I researched, the more I came to realise that we have all been sold a lifetime of lies.

I now know, beyond a shadow of all doubt that my suspicions of those acting in my best interests were well founded.

The world today is a very dangerous place indeed. I can promise you that those in Government are not acting for our benefit. They seek to do us harm. Fortunately we are many, they are few. Together we can take back our freedom and all enjoy life as it should be. No one should have to live without food, water and shelter. No one should have to live in fear. The way to a better life is through peace, love and mutual respect for your fellow man. In the words of the song, United we stand, Divided we fall.

With this in mind, I welcome you all...
