Her nickname was actually Silly Bet. She was thick as fuck.

3. The Queen has owned more than 30 corgis during her reign. One of her corgis mated with a dachshund belonging to Princess Margaret to produce a new breed called a dorgi. (She currently has four corgis and three dorgis...).

Obviously she wouldn't call the new breed Cachshund... Far too German sounding. Wouldn't want to undo all Kinky George V hard work. Still makes a change for the Royal ponces to take a break from inbreeding.

4. The Queen's robes were so heavy that at the start of her Coronation she asked the Archbishop of Canterbury to give her a push, saying "Get me started!".

Just a Shame that she wasn't standing atop the white cliffs of Dover at the time.

The dirty fucking bitch... Mind you, Big Ears has seen even more than her.

The tight cunt. I would have slung it straight back at her.

10. Unusual live gifts given to her on royal tours include two tortoises and a seven-year-old bull elephant.

The two tortoises were to remind her of the Duck and the Bull Elephant to remind her of Dobby... He's got Elephant ears and talks a load of Bull... Children be warned. If he asks if you wanna see his Elephants Trunk, run like fuck.

11. She has sat for 129 portraits during her reign.

Talk about fucking love y'self... Wasn't Paedo Rolf one of those who had a bash?
